Jat leader Malik faces oppn from within

GEETANJALI GAYATRI
TRIBUNE NEWS SERVICE

CHANDIGARH, NOVEMBER 19

Facing opposition from within his own community in the state and receiving hardly any support from Haryana's political leaders, Jat leader and AIJASS president Yashpal Malik is looking at "re-orienting" himself with the November 26 programme in Rohtak's Jassia. However, unlike his last agitation to press for OBC status to Jats, re-establishing his clout will be an uphill task for Malik.

Being up against rivals leading various factions of Jats, sarpanches from villages in Rohtak block have announced to boycott the bhoomi puja programme to establish a state-level coaching institute-cum-skill development centre named after Deenbandhu Sir Chhotu Ram.

While former Chief Minister Bhupinder Singh Hooda has refused to participate in the programme, Malik confirmed that union minister Birender Singh, too, had sent in his refusal while the main opposition party, the INLD, is undecided whether to attend Malik's programme or not. "I am currently abroad and will be back on November 22 after which the senior party leadership will take a call on the invite from Malik," senior INLD leader Abhay Singh Chautala said.

Malik, too, is hopeful of turning this event into a show of strength and sending out a message that he still wields clout. "We have invited all Jat leaders and there is nothing political about a bhoomi poo-

Malik speaks

AIJASS president Yashpal Malik has said members of the samiti would meet in the first week of December to chalk out the future course of action against the Manohar Lal Khattar-led BJP government in Haryana which was yet to fulfil a number of promises made during the "settlement" in March.

jan. We are expecting a number of leaders to show up. As far as the collections during the last agitation go, the details are available with the district committees," he said, dismissing the opposition from sarpanches and other quarters who have raised their voice against Malik. As Malik goes about garnering support for his November 26 function, sarpanches led by Sumit Arya of Makrauli village are going about propagating otherwise. "We stood by Malik right through the agitation earlier this year. However, he seems to be wanting political mileage to further his own agenda by setting up this institute in Jassia for which he has purchased land with the donations that came in during the agitation," Arya said.

He claimed that the four issues of bringing to book those responsible for instigating violence in the 2016 agitation, dropping cases against members of the Jat community registered after the violence, action against leaders like BJP MP Raj Kumar Saini and Roshan Lal Arya for their vitriolic speeches and ensuring reservation for the Jat have taken a backseat.

"Malik is celebrating Sir Chhotu Ram's jayanti on November 26 when it falls on November 24 while Raj Kumar Saini is holding a programme to mark social reformer Jyotirao Phuley's death anniversary which falls on November 28 on November 26 in Jind. We smell a rat with both leaders choosing the same day. They have no clash of interest since one will consolidate Jats and the other will consolidate non-Jats. We are going to villages asking the villagers to shun both programmes," Arya said.

Yash Garg, DC, Rohtak, said the administration was keeping a close watch on the developments with regard to the November 26 programme.

Hisar: Amid the debate over ethics of adopting IVF technology for having a child, Rajo Devi of Alewa village in Jind district, who attained motherhood at the age of 70 years in 2008, says that her life has change for good after the birth of her daughter Naveen who will turn nine on November 28. "I feel the same zeal and energy as a young woman while bringing up Naveen," said Rajo Devi with her husband, Banaram (80) by her side during a visit to Hisar recently. Naveen, a chirpy girl says: "I like reading and playing with my mother. I have lots of friends back in my school", she informs The Tribune. Naveen's mother said she was much appreciated in her school due to her excellent handwriting. Dr Anurag Bishnoi, Hisar-based doctor who helped the couple have child through IVF, said he agreed for the IVF on Rajo Devi only after medical tests. "Though there are risks involved in IVF, but Rajo Devi fortunately had no complications during pregnancy or even after delivery", he said. "Earlier, women used to suffer in case the couple remained issueless after marriage as men usually went for another marriage under social pressure. The IVF technique has helped save so many marriages

KU is 'sanskari' varsity

Kurukshetra: Kurukshetra University is a perfect 'sanskari' institution for its Vice-Chancellor, Prof KC Sharma. When Governor Kaptaan Singh Solanki, the ex-officio Chancellor of KU, was present to congratulate the university staff for gaining A+ rank by the NAAC, Prof Sharma said KU was better than Jawaharlal University (JNU) even though JNU has won a higher ranking of A++ due to technical reasons. The VC went on to add that "hamare campus mein 'bharat maa tere tukde hazar' jaise slogan nahin lagte. Yahan students 'bharat mata ki jai' bolte hain. Yeh sab sanskaron ki batein hain aur kam score ke bawjood, hamari university JNU se behtar hai".

Four varsity students get ₹27 lakh package

Faridabad: Four students of the YMCA University of Science and Technology, Faridabad, have received the package of Rs 27 lakhs, which is the highest so far in the university. The highest package was Rs 20 lakh last year. Students of B.Tech-Computer Science and Engineering (CSE), IT and Master of Computer Applications (MCA) were selected during a placement drive by Amazon. Those selected include Jatin Bansal and Samiksha Bansal of IT, Deepti Garg of Computer Engineering and Sahil of MCA (Master of Computer Applications). These students will complete their degrees in June. A spokesperson of the university said that a total of 187 students were hired by various leading companies. He said that campus selection of nearly half of the students enrolled in other streams like mechanical, electrical and electronics engineering was likely to take place in January or February. The other leading recruiters included Samsung, Johnson Hitachi, HCL, Hero Motocorp, TCS Daikin Air-Conditioning, Danfoss, Hitachi Consulting and Maruti Suzuki. The package offered has shown a jump of nearly 74 percent from the last.

YMCA varsity can start five new courses

Chandigarh: The Haryana Government has allowed the YMCA University of Science and Technology, Faridabad, to start B.Sc (Hons) in chemistry, physics and math, and M.Sc in chemistry and environment science. Sanction has also been given for the creation of 35 teaching posts for the five new courses and 78 non-teaching posts for affiliation related work and activities. The spokesman says that of the 35 posts, two will be of professor, five of associate professor and 28 of assistant professor. Similarly, of the 78 non-teaching posts, three will be of deputy registrar, four of assistant registrar, six superintendents, eight deputy superintendents, 10 assistants, 15 clerks, five junior stenographers, 12 lab assistants and 15 of helper attendant, says the government spokesman. The financial liability of the teaching posts will be about Rs 3.18 crore and of the non-teaching posts Rs 3.26 crore. The financial liability will be borne from the additional grant-in-aid given by the state government, says the official spokesman. tns

Alumni cherish memories of Sainik School

TRIBUNE NEWS SERVICE

KARNAL, NOVEMBER 19

Kunjeans enlivened the bygone era as they came back to their alma-mater Sainik School, Kunjpura, to take part in the old students' meet on Sunday. The silver jubilee batch of the school paid their gratitude to their alma-mater by presenting a Maruti Eco Van. Old boys interacted with young students and gave them tips for their bright future.

According to the tradition, Col VD Chandola, Principal, and other staff members extended a warm welcome to old Kunjeans, who remembered war heroes and paid homage by offering floral tributes at the War Heroes Memorial. Air Marshal PS Bhangu (retd) laid a wreath.

Besides, an annual general body meeting of the old boys association (OBA) was organised. Maj Gen Bishambar Dayal (retd), president, OBA, presented a souvenir to former teachers.

HSIIDC plot holders seek exclusion of shamlat land

ENHANCEMENT COST

KARNAL, NOVEMBER 19

As many as 115 industrialists of Sector 3 A, a part of Haryana State Industrial Infrastructure Development Corporation (HSIIDC), Industrial Estate, Karnal, have reiterated their demand for recalculation of enhancement charges of their plots excluding 'Shamlat deh land (common land), and the land of the state and Central government.

They allege that even after assurances from Minister for Industries and Commerce, Environment and Industrial Training Vipul Goel and the MD, HSIIDC, to sort out the issue, the authorities concerned have taken no action. Now, the industrialists have decided to meet CM Manohar Lal Khattar when he visits Karnal on November 26.

“We received notices for depositing the second enhancement cost at the rate of ₹1,734.21 per sq mt. Even the local HSIIDC office had submitted the recalculated enhancement cost of ₹1,161.63 per sq mt to the HSIIDC office on September 28, but it has not been approved.

The industrialists say they were served notices on July 11, 2017, for the payment of the enhancement cost at the rate of Rs 1,734.21 per sq mt, which contains the cost of 12.01 acres belonging to 'Shamlat deh land (common land), and land of the state and Central governments. The HSIIDC local office has sent a proposal after recalculating the enhancement cost, but it has not been approved, they add.

Som Sachdeva, secretary, Karnal Agriculture Implements Manufacturers Association (KAIMA), says that they had procured plots in the industrial area in 2007 at the rate of Rs 1,800 per sq mt and deposited the enhancement cost calculated up to March 30, 2012, as per the order of the then MD, HSIIDC, at the rate of Rs 1,860.15 per sq mt.

"We have twice approached Industries Minister Vipul Goel as well as the MD, HSIIDC, but are still awaiting the final outcome. Even the local HSIIDC office had submitted the recalculated enhancement cost of Rs 1,161.63 per sq mt to the HSIIDC office at Panchkula on September 28, but it has not been approved," he says.

"We are only demanding that the HSIIDC should charge the enhancement cost excluding 'Shamlat deh land (common land), and the land of the state and Centre government," says Ramesh Aneja, industrialist and executive member of the KAIMA.

"Plot holders understand the liability to pay the enhanced cost as ordered by the court concerned, which is payable to farmers, but we are worried about the high interest of 15 per cent. The enhanced cost after correct calculation has not been passed on to the plot holders even after six months of the court decision as per the Estate Management Procedure (EMP)-2011," says Amit Gupta, state vice-president, HSIIDC.

Besides, the industrialists also demand interest relief on the enhancement cost. Karnal HSIIDC Industries Welfare Association Manoj Arora urges the government to waive the interest on the enhancement cost.

HSIIDC to allot plots

CHANDIGARH, NOVEMBER 19 The Haryana State Industrial and Infrastructure Development Corporation (HSIIDC) has invited online applications for allotment of 132 industrial plots on a leasehold basis from members of the Council for Leather Exports (CLE) at Mega Leather Cluster, Industrial Model Township, Sohna.

A spokesman of the corporation said here today that 20 plots measured 4,050 square metres whereas 60 plots were of 1,800 square metres and 52 of 1,012.5 square metres.

The spokesman said that the authenticity of the applicant would be scrutinised by CLE at the first instance. However, the HSIIDC would be final competent authority to allot plots and sites. He said that the allotment would be on a leasehold basis for 99 years at Rs 7,500 per square metre. — TNS
